The Great War and Cumnock

At the outbreak of the Great War on 28 July 1914, the inhabitants of Cumnock went about their everyday business – there was no mention of the commencement of war in the Cumnock Chronicle. Like most places in Britain not much attention was paid to the war as people were told “... it will be all over by Christmas.”

This war was different from any previous war. It was warfare on an industrial scale with new weapons such as tanks, submarines, planes and chemical gas warfare. Eventually 32 countries took part and the losses were very high. Fighting took place in many places including France, Belgium, Serbia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Greece, Palestine and Egypt. The south east of England came under attack from ships and planes but the war didn't impinge on Cumnock.

Many men in Cumnock were eager to volunteer for the armed forces. The 2 local regiments being the Royal Scots Fusiliers and Ayrshire Yeomanry, but many young men who were mostly single, miners or farm labourers enlisted in regiments from all over Scotland and further afield. Cumnock women were not far behind in signing up for war work, mainly with the Scottish Women's Hospital, the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps and the Voluntary Aid Detachment.

By February 1916 when the grim reality of the war hit home, Britain was so short of soldiers that conscription was introduced. Some professions were exempt such as clergymen and teachers. Reserved occupations included miners but many had already volunteered. Enlistees had to be 19 to be sent to fight abroad but many signed up at a younger age and were put into training only to be sent abroad as soon as they were old enough.

At home women and men organised support for the war effort through fundraising at flag days, concerts, bazaars etc. Work Parties were formed and these knitted 'comforts' - socks, hats, scarves and gloves which were sent to the front. At Christmas they made up gift boxes with a variety of practical items including food and cigarettes. There were donations of eggs from local farms to go to wounded soldiers in hospitals. There were shortages of food at home with German submarines sinking ships bringing vital supplies - times were hard both at home and on the front.

Families were informed of the loss of a son by a telegram followed by a letter from the commanding officer and maybe from comrades or other local men in the same regiment. In many cases, men were blown to bits and no body was found. In some cases it might be a year before they were officially listed as dead, a time of anguish for families who hoped against hope that their man had escaped or had been taken prisoner. Few families in Cumnock escaped losing a family member or a neighbour in the war.

Not all those who died were shot or blown up. Many died of illnesses such as dysentery, malaria, fevers, pneumonia, illnesses that are now treatable with modern drugs such as antibiotics. Many of those who survived bore the scars, mental and physical for the rest of their lives. Many lost limbs, were blinded or suffered from what we now call post-traumatic stress disorder or PTSD.

Scotland's contribution to the British Armed Forces was considerable with the country sending over 690,000 men to war. World War One would last 1,566 days and would take over eight and a half million lives.

By the time the armistice was signed in November 1918 estimates for Scotland conclude that 74,000 never returned home, either killed in action or succumbing to disease, while a further 150,000 were seriously wounded. The impact of this devastating loss of life was felt the length and breadth of the country, and today almost every village and town in Scotland has its own memorial to those who died. It is difficult nowadays to realise what this meant for families living in Cumnock where 662 Cumnock men enlisted and 117 never came home.

Germany had formally surrendered on November 11 1918, and all nations had agreed to stop fighting while the terms of peace were negotiated. After the armistice there was still sporadic fighting and it took a year for some men to get home. On June 28 1919, Germany and the Allied Nations, including Britain, France, Italy and Russia, signed the Treaty of Versailles, formally ending the war.

In 2014 Cumnock History Group decided to research the 117 names of the WW1 soldiers on the War Memorial in Cumnock Cemetery - this research found many more men and women connected with Cumnock that are not on the memorial - some died in battle, some were injured and some survived. This opened further lines of research.

Welcome Home and Memorial Fund Committee

A committee was formed in January 1918 at the invitation of Provost David Smith with the aim of raising money to provide entertainment and relief funds for returning servicemen and their families and latterly to fund a monument to the fallen. The committee drew on the experience of the local Work Party, the Town Council, churches and other organisations and was soon raising funds through collections, donations, whist drives, dances, concerts, football games, sports days and other such events. By 1919 total funds raised were £1,075 which came from people living out of town, collections in town and parish, proceeds from dances, sports and entertainment and the Women's Work Fund.

WELCOME HOME FUND.

A public meeting was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening to inaugurate a Welcome Home Fund for local sailors and soldiers. The attendance, though small, was very representative.

Provost Smith presided, and in his opening remarks said the object of the fund was to raise money so that when our victorious sailors and soldiers returned, funds would be available not only for entertaining them but for the relief of necessitous cases until such were provided with suitable work. He was certain the townspeople would willingly support this movement, but it was for this meeting to say whether a fund should now be opened or not.

Cumnock Parish Medal

An article in the Cumnock Chronicle from August 1919 estimated that the cost of the medals would be between £600 and £700 but the same paper reports that in March 1920 that the War Memorial Committee treasurer be authorised to pay the account of £327 for the 728 medals supplied and to suggest they endeavour to get a rebate on that figure for the failure of the firm Fattorini & Sons of Bradford to supply cases with the medals.

The medal is silver and enamel in design. On the obverse is a circle of blue enamel with the words 'Parish of Old Cumnock.' In the centre the old Mercat Cross stands out in relief, surrounded by a laurel wreath in green and with the rising sun and its rays reflected behind the Cross.

For those who returned, the reverse of the medal was inscribed - "Presented to - - for services rendered during the Great War - 1914-1919." And for the fallen - "In remembrance of - - who gave his life in the Great War - 1914-1919."

Above this is the Fattorini & Sons Bradford imprint and underneath some assay marks: the Anchor mark for Birmingham, the Lion mark for sterling silver and a date letter for 1919.

Welcome Home Dance for Soldiers and Sailors

After several months of serious fundraising, the dance was held on the evening of Friday 10 December 1919. The expected audience was over 600. Cumnock Parish Medals would be presented to those who served and were in attendance - this took quite a while! Speeches were made by newly elected Provost Andrew Millar, Brigadier-General Pollok-McCall, Colonel John D Boswell, the Women's Work Party Committee, representatives from the Town Council, Parish Council, Education Authority, and from the various committees of the War Memorial and Welcome Home Fund.

The large hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flags and streamers, a large banner with the words 'Welcome Home' occupying a prominent place. The hall was filled with about 340 soldiers and their partners, and while they were assembling Tom Buck's orchestra of six players played spirited selections. Had it been possible to secure a building capable of holding thousands instead of hundreds it would have been filled to overflowing – everyone being anxious to be associated with what must have been regarded as a unique and historic gathering.

The presentation of souvenir Cumnock parish medals was then proceeded with - this had been so well organised that the 340 medals were handed over in record time. Each man had been supplied with a number, and was seated in the hall accordingly. They were called out into the entrance lobby in fifties and marshalled into order leading to the platform door. As the name of each soldier was called out he advanced to the table in the centre of the platform, where he received his medal from Miss Urquhart, secretary of the Work Party, and returned to his seat by way of the other end of the platform. A continuous round of applause was kept up during this ceremony and several of the recipients came in for a special cheer.

Colonel Boswell, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Work Party, told how much their parcels of comforts and good things were appreciated and looked forward to by the soldiers. The hall was quickly cleared of the seats and dancing was soon in full swing. Meanwhile the first of four relays sat down to tea in the lesser hall, and here the work of the Work Party was much in evidence. But that did not finish the labours of the women and their many willing assistants, for, after everybody had been "tead," the lesser hall was converted into a running buffet, and there was an unlimited supply of everything right up till the close at two-thirty. In the Council Chambers downstairs ices and aerated waters were dispensed and taken full advantage of. By all accounts there was nothing but the highest praise from the guests for the very generous way in which they had been entertained. The attractions in the various refreshment rooms relieved the congestion in the dancing hall, where, under the supervision of Hugh Blackwood and Herbert Morton, the big company enjoyed themselves to the full. Without a doubt the Welcome Home celebration was long remembered by all who had the pleasure of taking part in it.

The Welcome Home Banner

Special mention should be made of the Welcome Home banners. Although there are no photographs of the original banner we have worked with the Wee Sewing Bee group to design two modern banners each 4-feet by 6-feet made in the Cumnock colours and featuring the Parish Medal. We have re-imagined what the original might have looked like – this was so successfully and beautifully accomplished by the group and we are sure that these will be appreciated by generations to come.

Cumnock War Memorial

By February 1920 the War Memorial fund met and found they had £748 left after the payment of the parish medals and the the Welcome Home Dance. Further fundraising was required to pay for the memorial.

By March five sculptors were asked to submit ideas and 16 different designs were looked at including; a 16-foot high granite column surmounted by a metal-cast Lowland Scot Soldier sculpture on a 4-foot square granite block on a base costing £1,200 and a Celtic Cross in red granite and lead lettering costing £1,000.

Several different sites were looked at including the Square, the grounds of the school at the Barrhill, in front of the Town Hall, the site of the new houses at Gemmell Avenue and the central space at the new cemetery – the latter was chosen.

By April the winning design by monumental sculptors Mathew Muir & Co from Kilmarnock was chosen. The memorial was described as "Built of grey Creetown granite and 20-feet high and 7-foot wide at the base. The underpart and body of the structure is octagonal having 8 panels for names. This is surmounted by a 9-foot column all in one stone which terminates with an emblem of a martyr's crown above which is a ball, an emblem of the new world. A low coping in the same material will enclose the space." Bronze tablets with raised lettering were chosen which were slightly more expensive than lead lettering. The total cost of the monument was over £2,000 – all raised by further fundraising.

By May 1920 the names to be featured on the memorial were published in the Cumnock Chronicle and any additions called for. Quite how the names were selected is not clear. Presumably they were included if Cumnock was on their service records as either a place of birth, residence or enlistment, or if a local resident wished a relative to be added. By July the contract had been signed with Matthew Muir and Co and work on the monument had begun. By January 1921 work was progressing and a report from the committee stated that the granite part of the monument was lying at Dumfries ready to be sent on for erection but there was a delay with the eight inscribed panels. Four of these were complete and four still to cast but due to the slow process this would take a few more weeks to finish. By April 1921 plans were being finalised for an unveiling ceremony in June.

The memorial was unveiled by Lieutenant Colonel Archibald McInnes Shaw of Ballochmyle on Saturday 25 June 1921 in the presence of several thousand onlookers. It was an ideal summer day and people met at the Town Hall where the gathered soldiers, bands, organisations and platform party were slowly led up Glaisnock Street by a pipe-band playing Flowers of the Forest. In the cemetery a platform had been built behind the monument and facing the gates and once the crowd had taken their place the Rev John Warrick led the dedication prayer. After this Provost Andrew Millar made the unveiling ceremony address and handed over to Lieutenant Colonel Archibald McInnes Shaw who removed the Union Jack covering the name plaques and paid tribute to the men who had given their lives and to the men and women who had remained at home and supported the fighting men. Rev Warrick gave the benediction and many wreaths and bouquets were laid at the base of the monument.

The following day, there was an almost constant stream of visitors to the cemetery, and a unanimous opinion was expressed on the beauty of the design of the memorial and on the clear and lasting lettering on the inscriptions.

Cumnock Roll of Honour

Cumnock History Group wanted to honour the memory of all the Cumnock men and women who took part in the Great War whether they returned or not.

The names on this roll have been researched and taken from published lists from 1914, 1916 and 1919. These have been supplemented by articles from Cumnock Chronicle articles from 1914 to 1919, the Cumnock Soldiers Blog and the Cumnock Connections tree, both established by Kay McMeekin, Secretary of Cumnock History group, four years ago and has since been added to by many members and supporters of CHG and by soldier's families. Kay has done great work in managing and taking the lead as main researcher on both these sites.

This roll of honour is a work in progress. We sincerely apologise if we have inadvertently missed your family member's name or made any errors. We have been careful in ensuring the information and the names contained in this roll are as accurate as possible. If there are any mistakes, please contact us and we will correct them and add any new family information to our WW1 archive.

British Awards for Gallantry or Meritorious Service

The following awards are listed below in order of precedence.

VC – Victoria Cross

The highest award for gallantry. It is awarded for an act of outstanding courage or devotion to duty in the presence of the enemy.

DSO – Distinguished Service Order

Awarded for an act of meritorious or distinguished service in wartime and usually when under fire or in the presence of the enemy.

MC – Military Cross

Awarded for gallantry during active operations in the presence of the enemy.

DCM – Distinguished Conduct Medal

Awarded for gallantry in the field in the face of the enemy.

MM – Military Medal

Awarded for gallantry and devotion to duty when under fire in battle on land.

RRC – Royal Red Cross

Awarded for exceptional services in military nursing.

The term ‘and bar’ means that the award has been bestowed multiple times.

Foreign Awards for Gallantry or Meritorious Service

Allies often awarded British men and women awards who had fought or who were involved in war-work in that country.

CDG – The Croix de Guerre. France

Awarded to those who distinguish themselves by acts of heroism involving combat with the enemy. The medal is awarded to those who have been “mentioned in dispatches”, meaning a heroic deed or deeds were performed meriting a citation from an individual’s headquarters unit.

FMM – Médaille Militaire. France

Awarded for meritorious service and acts of bravery in action against an enemy force.

OWE – Order of the White Eagle. Serbia

Awarded for conspicuous bravery of officers in the field, and for exceptional merit during wartime actions.

CM – Cross of Mercy. Serbia

Awarded for services to Serbia to Doctors and Nurses.

SMDS – Silver Medal for Devoted Service in War. Serbia

Awarded for services to Serbia and for acts of bravery on the field of battle.
